By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Granite City Police and the Major Case Squad of Greater St. Louis continue their investigation into Thursday's double-murder of realtor Carl Hoffman, 49, and his wife, Susan, 27.

Authorities still have no suspects or motive, but are following "strong leads," said Police Chief William Harris.

The two were found dead in the living room of their recently purchased home at 1547 Rodger Ave. His body was found seated on a couch. Her body was face-down on the floor. A bloody butcher knife was also found in the room.

THE BACK DOOR of the home appeared to have been forced open, police said.

Preliminary autopsies performed here Thursday afternoon showed the Hoffmans had been stabbed repeatedly, and shot, according to Madison County Coroner Dallas Burke. Police would not disclose the caliber of the weapon.

"There are no strong suspect at this time," Harris said. "We're still following strong leads."

HARRIS SAID investigators are looking for a female with a code name "Debby" who called the St. Louis Police Department Thursday.

"We would like for her to please call back to the Major Case Squad at 451-9760 or 877-6111."

Though police have no definite suspects, Harris said three juveniles who escaped from the Edwardsville Educational Therapy Center were not involved in the murder. The youths were all captured by 10:30 a.m. Thursday after they were seen in the city.

He added he is being careful about information being given to the press while the investigation is in progress. Lack of information is causing rumors to surface about the circumstances of the deaths.

"I DON'T LIKE the fact that there are a lot of rumors going around," he said, "but we just don't have all the facts."

Richard Jasudowicz, a salesman with the Carl Hoffman Realty Co., called the Hoffman residence Thursday at 8:30 a.m. when Carl and Susan, who was also Carl's secretary, did not show up at work.

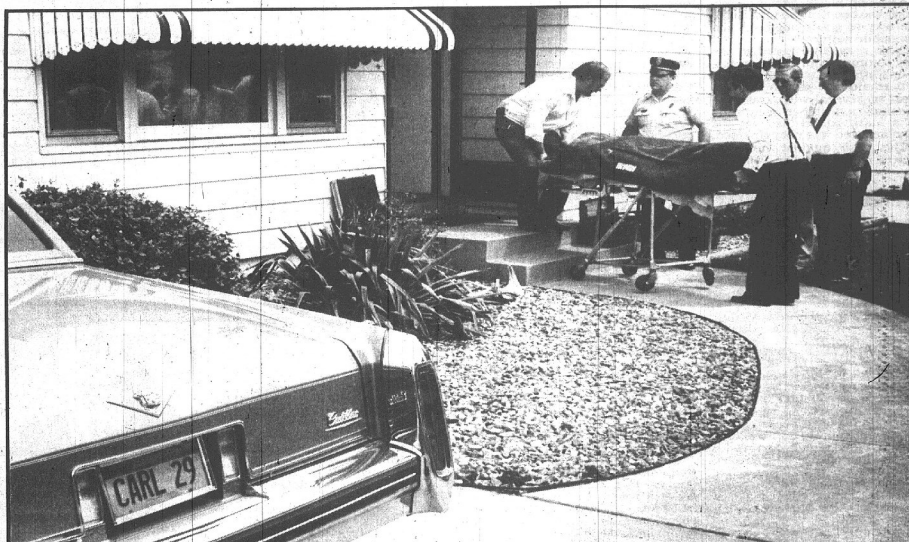

Susan's daughter, Jennifer Seago, 4, answered the phone and told Jasudowicz that her parents were still asleep.

JASUDOWICZ CALLED BACK at 9 a.m. and the girl said she could not wake them.

At about 9:30 a.m., he drove to the Hoffman residence and found the girl, dressed in a nightgown, watching television in the living room.

He said he saw dried blood covering the lower part of Carl's face, neck and shirt. He also saw blood on Susan's arms.

Jasudowicz grabbed Jennifer and took her outside the house (See LEADS, Page 3A)

'It's hard to believe they're gone'

GRANITE CITY — Everything seemed right for Carl and Susan Hoffman.

The recently married couple had just eight weeks earlier moved into their new home at 1547 Rodger Ave. They were operating a successful real estate agency. And everyone said they were happy.

News of the Hoffman double-homicide swept the city Thursday, shocking the couple's friends, relatives and neighbors.

"I called Carl at home around 9:30 (p.m. Wednesday), and told him I would be in late this morning," said Elmer Goode, Carl's business associate. "He said, 'OK buddy.' He always called me buddy."

"I was out of town this (Thursday) morning. The office beeped and told me to get back right away," Goode said.

"It's hard to believe they're gone," Goode said. "Yesterday, they were so happy."

Carl and Susan Hoffman

It was the second marriage for Susan, 27. She had worked as a secretary with the firm for three years. Hoffman had been married five times previously.

"She ran this office," said co-worker Sandy Hill. "She had just gotten a new house. She just about had the place decorated. I was telling her how pretty it looked," said her mother, Pat Ralls.

"She was a very loving, giving person. She was devoted to Jennifer and Carl. She had a lot of friends," Ralls said.

Aside from the realty firm and her new home and marriage, Susan also maintained her status as a licensed practical nurse. Mostly, she worked at Hoffman Real Estate.

Hoffman lived real estate, said Goode.

"Like most of us, he was on call damn near 24-hours a day," Goode said.

"Every charity that came along got something from Carl. I don't care who it was," Goode said.

Hoffman made it his duty to help people he knew needed it. Goode said. Sometimes that meant giving up his commission on the sale of a house. Sometimes that meant helping someone who had just left prison.

"He made no bones about his record," Goode said. "He got in trouble once, he admitted he made a mistake when he was young. I don't know the details, but it was in self-defense."

"His friends and associates were politicians and successful business people. People like that aren't going to have anything to do with someone who isn't a good person," Goode said.

Goode said Hoffman worked 14 hours to 15 hours a day, yet still had time to act as vice president for the board of realtors and attend City Council meetings. Susan was just as dedicated, he said.

On April 22, Hoffman spoke before the City Council in opposition to proposed building permits being discussed by the city. Hoffman claimed the permits would be a burden to the area's poor.

Hoffman opened his realty company in July 1970 after being laid off from Johns-Manville.

As a realtor, he earned the respect of his peers and fellow employees for his tireless devotion to the real estate profession; some considered him a "workaholic."

"The business will continue, said Goode. "Proceeds will go to the estate."

"It sounds cruel," Goode said, "but it will be business as usual. Carl would have wanted it that way."

Daughter saved from house

When Carl and Susan Hoffman didn't arrive at work Thursday, employees at Hoffman Realty firm became concerned.

The Hoffmans were usually at work by 8:30 a.m.

Salesman Rich Jasudowicz said he called the Hoffman home and the phone was answered by Susan's daughter, Jennifer, age 4. Jennifer said her parents were sleeping.

Jasudowicz told her to have them call the office when they got up.

They hadn't called by 9 a.m., so Jasudowicz called back. This time Jennifer told him they wouldn't wake up; they were sick.

Jasudowicz then went to the home and convinced Jennifer to unlock the front door. He stepped inside and found the couple dead, Carl sitting on the sofa and Susan lying face down on the living room floor.

"I only took two steps inside," Jasudowicz said.

"She (Jennifer) was in there watching T.V. like nothing happened," Jasudowicz said. "She's only 4 years old."

Jasudowicz said an odor of gas could be detected in the house, so he took the little girl with him and called the police and ambulance.

Jennifer was examined and released at St. Elizabeth's Medical Center. She was taken into protective care by relatives.

"She's doing fine," a relative said. "Right now, we don't want anybody to know where she is."

They were quiet neighbors living in a quiet area

GRANITE CITY — A ribbon of yellow plastic circled the plain white house at 1547 Rodger Ave., keeping out the curious.

While police officials crossed the plastic barrier to inspect inside the house, some neighbors watched from doorways and others gathered on the corner of Rodger and Aubrey avenues.

The neighbors didn't have time to get to know Carl and Susan Hoffman, the recently married couple that had moved to Rodger Avenue two months earlier. But neighbors were familiar with the couple's dedication to Carl Hoffman Realty Co.

Ruth Briggs noticed something was different Thursday morning when she saw the Hoffmans' gold Cadillac still in the driveway.

"They'd go to work and come home and that would be it," she said of her next-door neighbors.

She had wondered why they hadn't gone to work. Then came a knock on her door from someone wanting to use the phone to call an ambulance. The story unfolded from there.

Her dog didn't bark through the night, Briggs recalled. There was no hint of the neighbors being murdered.

"That's what gets me," she said. "I had heard nothing. Absolutely nothing."

Harvey Smallie stood beside friends in his driveway across the street from the Hoffman home. He said he knew Carl, grew up with him. Carl Hoffman minded his own business, Smallie said.

"He went to work and came home and that was it," Smallie said. "He never bothered nobody."

mostly by middle-aged, middle-class couples.

"We've never had nothing like this," Smallie said.

"This has to be one of the most quiet areas," Briggs said. "Everyone is compatible. Most of us are retired. This is just a shock."

"We were sleeping with the windows open these nights. You know — no air on," said Richard Putnick, another next-door neighbor to the Hoffmans.

"It's a real shame," Putnick said as the body of Carl Hoffman was carried from the home.

Point of entry?

THE DOOR to the Hoffman home was battered. It is thought to be the point of entry made by the murderer or murderers. More news about the case is on Page 3A.

Police chief used good sense

Granite City Police Chief Bill Harris used good sense Thursday when he called the Major Case Squad of Greater St. Louis to investigate the Hoffman murders.

At other police departments, pride has been known to stand in the way of good judgment and the public suffered.

Such a case occurred in the tiny community of Lebanon early on Christmas.

A barmaid was shot to death in front of several witnesses, and she made a deathbed accusation to a state policeman, but the man accused was not convicted.

The case against him fell apart when none of the witnesses showed up for the trial. Her deathbed statement could not be used because she did not know the man was dying.

None can now say the accused man was guilty. But his reputation and the cause of justice would have been more fairly served had the local police department not elected to have its own, less experienced personnel do the investigation.

The Illinois Division of Criminal Investigation, had it been asked immediately, would have provided a methodical search for evidence and conducted interviews that might have resulted in a conviction of the correct person.

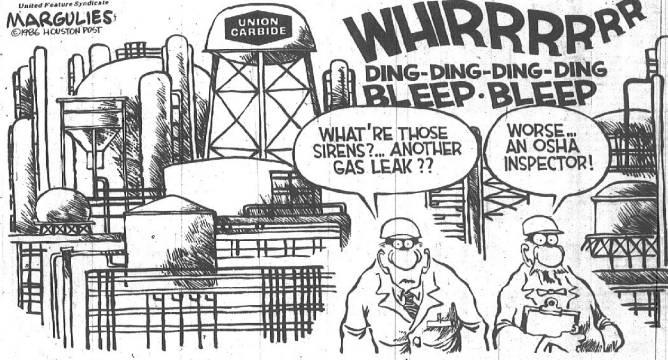

The division was not called and the barmaid's murder remains unsolved.

Granite City has an excellent police force with much greater depth and ability to investigate a murder than Lebanon. But the police chief here sought help from the Major Case Squad. He recognized the difficulty this case could represent and chose to go to a group that specializes in such cases.

We believe the community will be served well by the experience the Major Case Squad brings to the investigation.

The chief put good sense before pride.

Change brings stress

To the editor:

Readers, have you recently:

- Graduated from junior or senior high school?
- Moved out of the house or to another school?
- Been ill?
- Had a friend or relative die?
- Experienced your parents' divorce?
- Broken up with your boyfriend?
- Chances are that you or someone you are close to has experienced something like this recently. These are all losses, and they need to be grieved.
- A common saying is "No pain—no gain." Pain usually comes with change, and change is necessary for growth.
- Some of these losses cause minor discomfort; others make us feel that our lives will never be the same.
- There are three stages of recovery which help us grow from these losses: these are discussed by Colman, et al in their book, How to Survive the Loss of a Love (Leo Press Inc. 1978).
- Denial/shock is the first stage—don't want to believe that we've lost something or someone so important to us.

Anger/repulsion is the second stage. From one moment to the next, we feel bitter and then sad / why did this happen to me?

The last stage is understanding/acceptance. We are able to feel healed, and we're ready to continue with life.

What can help? Let yourself mourn your loss and be gentle with yourself.

Crying is OK / so is feeling angry / but it's not OK to hurt yourself or someone else. Talk and do things with friends or someone else you can trust (family, clergy, counselor, etc.).

What will happen? You'll learn that you can survive / you're stronger than you thought.

These points are among those being made here as part of the observance of Mental Health Month in May.

GC can attain educational excellence

When asked to write my viewpoint, I must confess a measure of anxiety. An unstated yet well-learned rule for surviving school administrators is that one is better off if he expresses no views of his own.

Because of this apprehension, I have avoided elaboration on why I make the following suggestions, nor have I mentioned any specific individuals or groups. Any inferences to the credit or detriment of any faculty or individual will be strictly the reader's imagination, not my intention.

I have focused upon defining concepts which are important for our community, though difficult to understand, relatively intangible, and often interpreted in different ways.

These concepts offer a partial answer to a single question: What does Granite City need? First, I have briefly discussed a relationship, one that is important in communicating the suggestions that follow and one that frequently is forgotten or misinterpreted.

George Washington studied cybernetics in order to master the mathematics necessary to do land surveying. This method of organizing instruction into separate disciplines of knowledge was relatively novel for his day—and marked the emergence of an approach still seen in our high schools and colleges today.

The important point here is that President Washington's community needed surveyors for the continued exploration of the New World, and his educational community responded.

Your views

W. STUART MILLS is supervisor of special education in Madison County Special Education Region I (Granite City, Madison and Venice school districts). He holds the degree of doctor of philosophy.

Long before George Washington, the ancient city of Troy needed a method of organizing knowledge. Consequently, the Trojan educational system trained the "citizen-soldiers." Schools do what the communities need them to do.

Thus, by design, schools were and continue to be a reflection of their respective communities and will probably continue in this reciprocal relationship for a long time to come.

It follows that an excellent school system will require an excellent community—one capable of perceiving the need for excellence.

The schools will respond to the needs of the community. This is the political nature of our school systems, not an opinion. How well they respond is to a large extent dependent upon that community.

What does Granite City need? Granite City has more potential to be an excellent community than any in the immediate area. We are fortunate that our disadvantages can be compensated for and, in some cases, alleviated if the people decide that it is needed.

We do not suffer limiting geographic situations as do so many communities. Despite our losses, more industrial base remains than many of the "bedroom" communities could acquire in a lifetime.

In my opinion, Granite City's movement toward excellence would demand three requisites: A) leadership; B) pride in our community; and C), an excellent school system.

The concept, leadership, believes any operational definition.

At the moment, however, one feature seems to stand out as a particular need in our community. This is the willingness to take risks—for those who aspire to political leadership to state their positions specifically and honestly, and then to stand by them.

Without this kind of leadership, we will remain disappointed; we will have no direction, no clearly-defined cause to rally around, no way to set priorities, and no means for the schools to determine what the community expects of education.

Pride in our community means being positive about Granite City. This does not imply a need for verbal garbage that "no one believes or understands" including those who express it. I.e., "We don't have any problems here."

"This is the best town east of the Mississippi." "We have the second best school district in Illinois."

It means becoming informed about actual positive circumstances and/or events and expressing them, e.g., "We have a lot of recreation services in Granite City: a YMCA, the park district, the soccer association, the schools, etc." "We have a library system that allows our children access for our independent reading program." "Last year our graduating seniors earned approximately $1 million in scholarships toward college."

It means selecting political leaders that best fit your political needs but then recognizing the advantage in cooperating with others toward the larger goal of community excellence, even when your individual needs are not specifically addressed.

It means communicating in such a manner that you elicit a two-way exchange—ask questions, make suggestions, express your viewpoint.

Finally, it means that we consciously minimize our tendency toward a negative attitude. Within the educational community, we have always been presented our share of temptations, but none quite so obvious as the current demands.

Having experienced the decades of the '60s and '70s, wherein the emphasis was given to educating everyone followed by doing it so that everyone is equal, we are now in the throes of a felt need for accountability.

This expectation simply lends itself to negative attitude—trust on one, specify everything, and challenge all authority.

This does not suggest that we paint a rosy picture regardless of conviction. It means a willingness to share a problem resolution, to criticize constructively, to accept the challenge rather than expect the worst.

If this can be the dominant attitude, we will be capable of perceiving and obtaining excellence.

On the other hand, if we concentrate our energies on the negative effects, we shall fulfill that prophecy instead.

Excellent schools mean schools that are effective in teaching students.

Research on effective schools indicates a need for more emphasis given to a complex set of interdependent variables, rather than a simple recipe approach.

Certain aspects of school leadership, teaching personnel, curriculum and instruction have evidenced strong relationships to student achievement.

Fortunately as professionals, we know about these variables as well as how to go about achieving this kind of excellence.

If the necessary resources are provided based upon the perceived needs of our community, we will achieve excellence.

The number of variables demonstrating importance for successful schools about which we know the least, also seems most directly dependent upon community assistance.

Increased levels of parental contact with the school and parental involvement in school activities have been shown to be essential for maximum student achievement.

A compilation of research conducted during the late '60s and throughout the '70s has shown that the home environment has more impact than the school, relative to the ultimate success of the student.

In this case, we do not yet know specifically which home variables contribute most to school success, but we do have sufficient evidence to know that, whatever they are, they come from home, not school.

If we are to have effective schools, we must find a way to work more closely with parents. Therefore, the final suggestion is

Could sharpen minds

To the editor:

During the past two school years, the Illinois State Board of Education and the teachers in 11 fourth, fifth and sixth grade classes in Williamson County have been testing the effect of a little mind-sharpening device patented by Wayman Presley. Everyone is happy with the results. Students make better grades and have a better attitude toward learning.

We have now requested that the $94,000,000 of Exxon money, which he says belongs to the people, be used to purchase one of the inexpensive little sticks for every kindergarten and grade school student in Illinois.

They will cost about the same as a pack of cigarettes, but they will last a lifetime, and can be effectively used by every member of the family. He has told us that he is considering doing this.

In the interest of upgrading our educational process and helping our young people to a better life, we urgently request that every person reading this write at once to the governor requesting him to do this.

Presley gives credit for his success to use of one of this sort of devices when he was about 10 years old.

He says it will quickly sharpen one's mind like sharpening a dull knife with a file. He says this condition will stay with a person throughout life without continued use of the device.

He can, now, reaching 90 years old, still count the stitches being made by an electric sewing machine humming at full speed, and can add long columns of figures faster than an adding machine. We have seen him do this.

No wonder he received the first "man of the year" award ever given by Illinois.

In the interest of our children, we urge all to write to the governor at once.

Solution offered to the deficit

We got the solution to the problem of the $2 trillion national debt and it's been right in front of our faces here in Illinois for several years now.

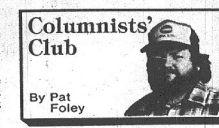

It's a major mystery why no one has not only suggested it, but put the wheels in motion to get it started.

The solution? A national lottery. The Illinois State Lottery (ISL) the twice-weekly Lotto game in particular, has been extremely successful. It has greatly helped the state fund programs, either directly or indirectly, that otherwise would not exist.

Of course, you might say that such a lottery might be easy to administer on a nationwide level. But a nationwide lottery would be difficult, if not impossible, to run and control.

Wrong.

Canada has operated a national lottery for several years now and there have been no major problems or scandals arise to date.

Where and how would tickets be sold?

A nationwide network of federal offices would be needed, not only for the sale, but also for the payment.

"That's just more bureaucracy that's going to cost more money," you might say.

Wrong, again.

We already have a network of federal offices from coast to coast and in just about every city, town and village in the U.S. Post Service. Everyone has a zip code and most have their own local post office and that's where they would buy their lotto tickets.

Fine. So we've got a lottery and a way to sell the tickets, but what about the bottom line—money?

Using the ISL as an example for the national lottery and using the annual sales, prize money and profits for a comparison, the U.S. would be "rolling in dough" in no time.

In 1985, the ISL had total sales of $1,239,016,576, which included $67,446,377 in ticket sales in the six-year Lotto game.

The Lotto game would be the best game to use for the national lottery.

Since it isn't as easy as multiplying the ISL's figures here by 50, for the 50 states, the figures here are based upon the population of the state compared to the population of the U.S.

Of the more than half-billion-dollar Lotto sales last year, 50 percent went to the state coffers, minus commissions to the ticket agents and administrative costs.

But the state's profits after these costs still total more than 41 percent or $116 million and change.

Nationwide, that equates to $2,326,530,145 and I would be willing to bet this figure would be even larger in reality.

And where would these profits go?

I propose using the profits to fund Social Security at a level high enough so its recipients would be able to live comfortably, something most cannot afford to do now.

The national lottery would also assure the continuance of the program without putting a larger burden on today's workforce.

Part of the profit should also be used to pay off the national debt, but none should be put into the coffers to ease the budget deficit nor be spent by the bureaucrats in Washington D.C.

A national lottery—the solution to big problems facing this nation that will make us all winners.

U.S. can advance liberty

To the editor:

U.S. action in Grenada, Lebanon and worldwide might be judged as to whether it advances liberty instead of national sovereignty and non-intervention.

When progress toward liberty is the standard for evaluating conduct, it becomes clear that Soviet interventions which advance tyranny are not morally the same as those U.S. interventions which advance or protect relative liberty.

National sovereignty is morally negative when it provides a shield for bullies such as Hitler, Stalin, Pol Pot and Andropov.

National sovereignty is only positive in cases where it provides a shield for relative freedom.

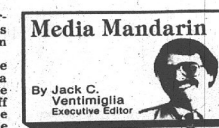

American defense of liberty and freedom is not an abstract statement of a universal "gulag" have been paralyzed by three false ideas:

1. The alleged sanctity of national sovereignty.
  2. The alleged importance of making arms-control agreements with the U.S.S.R.
  3. The myth that "good" people must never use force preemptively.
- The condemnation of pre-emptive strikes guarantees that the odds will be against preserving freedom, because "freedom's" defenders will forever have to fight, already wounded, at times and places chosen by tyrants and aggressors.
- A ideas should be tested for their intrinsic merit and consequences. If their consequences are bad for liberty, one should assume that such ideas are actively and surreptitiously cultivated by freedom's enemies. Any other assumption defies common sense.

We stop the presses to get you the news

We were getting ready to forward the last page to the press when news of the Hoffman murders reached us.

We immediately stopped the press process, dispatched a reporter and photographer to the scene, and ripped a story off the front page about the newspaper awards won by the Press-Record/Journal as we decided it was the least significant story and held it until today (Page 3).

our presses. The story was thorough and accurate, thanks to quality work by reporter Bill Bagby, copy desk chief Bill Winter, and staff contributions.

Approximately 30 minutes of reporting time wasn't much to work with, but this staff was up to the challenge.

We enjoy "scooping" the other papers, even if only because of a better deadline, but we weren't about to stop there.

Staff members met Thursday afternoon for a planning session. We tried to anticipate the questions you would want answered. And then we went in search of those answers.

The result is today's front page; the best information available at press time.

We believe it is worth the extra hard, long hours of work to put the best in area news coverage in your hometown Press-Record/Journal.

Murders rise in 1968 from one in '85; 0, '84

By Bill Bagby

Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The double-murder Thursday of Carl and Susan Hoffman marked both the third and fourth homicides in the city this year.

There was one murder in 1985; none in 1984.

The first murder in 1986 occurred when Ricky Sanders, 19, died Feb. 23. He suffered a skull fracture following a beating Feb. 12 in the 4500 block of Kirkpatrick Homes. Police found Sanders unconscious at his apartment. He died at St. Louis University Hospital.

Police charged Robert Carroll, 22, with Sanders' murder, first-degree murder, Feb. 25 in Bonifay, Fla.

The second homicide took place

March 4 when James "Buddy" Clubb, 68, was shot in the abdomen at his home. He died the next day at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Police charged James Albert Seisser, 46, with Clubb's murder. Seisser lived in the same apartment building as Clubb, at 1228 Cleveland Blvd. Seisser was arrested March 24 in Columbia, Tenn.

The Hoffmans' double-homicide is the first double-murder in Granite City since March 5, 1976 when Richard and Anna Kube were strangled in their home at 2476 Iowa St.

Police found the Kube's in the basement of their home. The Kubes had electrical cords from irons wrapped around their necks. The case is unsolved.

Major Case Squad gathering evidence

By Bill Bagby

Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The Major Case Squad of Greater St. Louis is assisting Granite City police in the investigation of the double-homicide of Carl and Susan Hoffman.

The squad, established in 1964, consists of officers from police departments in the metropolitan St. Louis and Metro East areas, said Lt. Col. Bob Astorian, assistant chief of the Granite City Police Department and a former Major Case Squad member.

The squad's purpose is to help investigate serious crimes, such as murder, kidnapping, arson or treason, Astorian said. The squad mostly handles murders, he said.

The Hoffman case is the second murder case the Major Case Squad has been asked to help investigate in Granite City, Astorian said. The other instance was a murder of an elderly woman in 1976.

He explained the squad must be activated within five hours of the crime. The request for their assistance must come from the police chief.

Approval for assistance must come from Florissant, Mo. Police Chief Robert Lowery, chairman of the squad's board of directors. Approval must also come from two other board members.

Astorian said the board of directors is composed of 13 law enforcement officers, including Madison County Sheriff Emil Toffant and St. Clair County Sheriff Mearl Justus.

Two civilian members, usually businessmen, also sit on the board, Astorian said.

Once the request is approved, a deputy commander is assigned to be in charge of the investigation, Astorian explained. Maj. Robert Hertz, of the Madison County Sheriff's Department, is in charge of the Granite City investigation.

A personnel officer, their chief participating police department, to get investigation assistance.

Between 14 and 20 men are usually assigned to an investigation, he said, and work around 12 to 14 hours a day. Twenty-one Major Case Squad members are assigned to the Granite City case.

The squad works on the case more than five days, Astorian said, but may work longer with permission from the board of directors.

Hoffman Realty will remain open

The office staff of Carl Hoffman Realty, 2848 Madison Ave., will continue business operations under the guidance of Elmer Goode, according to John Blasingame, president of the Granite City Board of Realtors.

Goode is a registered broker at the present time and the Illinois Department of Education and Registration in Springfield has agreed to the this arrangement for the business, Blasingame said.

Blasingame added that clients need not be concerned with listings or contracts in process. However, if they have any questions they are advised to call the office at 977-9777.

Assisting Goode are John Pasdeck and Rich Jasudowicz, salesmen, and Sandy Hill, office secretary.

Southern Illinois Editorial Association

Hometown newspaper takes three top awards

CARBONDALE — The Granite City Press-Record/Journal captured the General Excellence Award at the Southern Illinois Editorial Association's annual Better Newspaper Contest ceremony recently.

The newspaper also took first place in the categories of best overall makeup and best use of photography. The three first-place awards, and a second-place award for local news writing, were won in the "large weeklies division" for newspapers with more than 2,700 circulation.

"These awards, particularly for general excellence, are indicative of the staff's all-out effort to provide our readers with the best in community service," said Executive Editor Jack C. Ventimiglia.

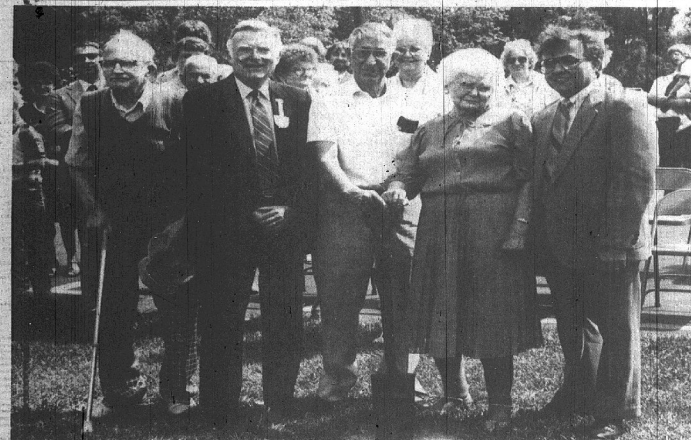

The General Excellence Award is based on the overall quality of the newspaper, with attention paid to the editorial page, literary excellence, advertising enterprise, general and department news coverage, and mechanical excellence.

The Press-Record/Journal also took second place for feature writing in the "submitted entries" competition. The award winning article, written by Susan Webb, was on a priest's anti-abortion stand.

The Cahokia/Dupo Journal took second place for the second straight year for "best editorial" in the submitted entries category. The editorial was written by Ventimiglia about questions arising from an incident involving a pickup truck. A village employee later admitted to having done more than $1,000 in damage to the truck by repeatedly shooting it.

The Press-Record/Journal, Cahokia/Dupo Journal and the East St. Louis News-Journal are the member newspapers of East Side Publications, based in Granite City. The company's publisher is Rick Jarvis.

Church of Christ will build fellowship hall

The Church of Christ, 2130 Clark Ave., held a groundbreaking ceremony last week for a new $64,000 fellowship hall.

The addition will accommodate approximately 150 to 200 people. Participating in the event were Mayor Von Dee Cruse, Alderman Jeff Worthen and charter members of the church, Mrs. Anna Weston, Mrs. Elva Mae "Ebb" Spiceland and Mrs. Kate Bailey. Ray Shelton, one of the original elders of the church, also was present.

Gale Thornton, minister, led the ceremony by reading a brief history of the church, followed by comments by Mayor Cruse. Refreshments were served afterward.

It was on the second Sunday in September 1929 when a group of the Church of Christ met for the first time in Granite City in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Weston.

Present were the Weston daughters, Kate and Ebb, Mrs. Rayma Weston and her daughter, Norris, Ruth Thomason, Grace Parker, Viola Sills and several families from the Mountain and Bayard congregation in St. Louis. Of the original group, only Anna Weston and her daughters worship with the present congregation.

After meeting in the Weston residence for three weeks, the church rented the Odd Fellows Hall, 20th Street and Grand Avenue.

Services continued there with Dr. Frank Dunn and Frank Dunn Jr. preaching. Harry Starling led the singing. These men, along with several other families from the St. Louis congregation, came to Granite City every Sunday to worship with the small group here.

During the winter of 1929-1930, Mr. and Mrs. William Flowers, Mrs. Beulah Goode, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Goode, Modena and Lester Goode, and Vestal Skinner began worshipping with the church members. Norman Goode became the first song leader for the church. Vestal Skinner and Lester Goode are still members.

The first gospel meeting was held in August 1930 with J.D. Tant preaching. During this meeting Beulah Smothers, Ruth Sparks and Mrs. Coppedge became members of the congregation. Shortly after the meeting, Dr. Frank Dunn baptized Macon Sparks and Nadine Sparks (now Mrs. Nadine Legate), who were the first two people to be baptized in the Granite City church.

In 1932, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Strange became members of the congregation and he became the church treasurer. He continued in that capacity until shortly before his death in 1959. At that time Joe Lurton became the treasurer for the congregation. Mr. and Mrs. Lurton began meeting with the church in 1933 and he became the first full-time minister, continuing to preach for the church until he became ill several years later. After his retirement, he still preached occasionally.

Others who ministered for the church were Tom Sanders, E.L. Whittaker, Ray Ship, Nat Murphy, Paul Brown, Chris Lyles, Arthur Brewer, Philip Powers, Bill Willard, Giles Heiler, Jim Jones, Jack Simon and David Phillips. The present minister, Gale Thornton, began working with the congregation on Feb. 27, 1983.

The first elders were Norman Goode, Ray Shelton and William Waelitz. Shelton is still attending services.

In 1948, the congregation purchased its first building at 20th Street and Cleveland Boulevard, formerly the First Christian Church. This building, sold to the Granite City Public Library in 1961, was torn down and the site now is a parking lot.

The land where the present church is located was purchased in December 1956. Ground was broken for the present facility in August 1960, with Anna Weston, Lurton George and Chris Lyles taking part in the ceremonies.

The first service was held in the new building on Dec. 25, 1960, with Lurton George preaching. A dedication and open house for the new building was held Jan. 8, 1961, with Andy McDaniel, a pitcher for the St. Louis Cardinals baseball team and a member of the Church of Christ, as guest speaker. The congregation bought 10 acres of land on Maryville Road in 1966 and in May 1970 land was purchased at 4724 Benning Ave. Construction began Oct. 2, 1970, for a new home for the minister; Bill Willard and his family moved into the house on Benning in 1971. The preacher's house located next to the church is now being used for offices, classrooms and fellowship.

Mexican Commission plans busy schedule of summer, fall events

Several future events were discussed at the April meeting of the Mexican Honorary Commission.

Plans were completed for the Cinco de Mayo Fiesta set for Saturday, and plans were also discussed for the Fourth of July celebration, the Madison Ethnic Days festival, the September Fiesta and the MHC summer picnic.

Members agreed to serve Mexican food at the Fourth of July event, with operating hours at the booth to begin on Thursday, July 3, and continue through July 6, maintaining the same hours as the carnival.

Joe Valencia was appointed chairman of the Sept. 13 fiesta to be held at the MHC hall. Bill and

Alan Gersteneckers are parents of son

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Gerstenecker of Collinsville, formerly of Pontoon Beach, became the parents of their first child, a son, born April 28 at Oliver C. Anderson Hospital in Maryville.

The infant has been named Jarrod Alan. He weighed 7 pounds, 13 1/2 ounces.

To the parents of our students: Become involved in your child's learning experience. Communicate with his or her teachers. Attend PTA.

Find out how you can help your child learn. Take your child to the library regularly. Encourage your child to write.

Talk with your child daily about school — "What did you learn today?" As you interact with your child, remember the words of Elbert Hubbard: "Positive anything is better than negative nothing."

Because of the nature of this article, I have chosen not to cite specific references. For the sake of accountability, I will be happy to name them for anyone who cares to contact me.

Nornbergs, pioneers of retailing in Madison, active here since 1913

It was the year 1907, eight decades ago, when Morris Nornberg decided it was time to start a new life for himself and came to America from a small town named Sokolow near Vilna, Poland.

The family's history that followed his arrival was traced in a talk to the Old Six Mile Historical Society during April by Tillie Nornberg.

Her father arrived in Philadelphia. Although he was alone, he knew the family of Yoda Greenberg which had come to America the previous year and settled in St. Louis.

Morris Nornberg and his family and the Greenbergs had lived in adjoining areas of Poland and were friends. As a young boy, he and his father had peddled wares from door to door and the Greenberg family was on their route. The Greenbergs had a young daughter named Bertha.

Morris Nornberg put a notice in a newspaper, The Daily Jewish Forward, in his search for the Greenberg family. Morris Greenberg, Bertha Greenberg's brother, was reading the paper one day, saw the ad and sent him money for a ticket to St. Louis.

"Dad went to work in a shoe factory, doing piecework. Although he had not learned English as yet, he was an excellent worker. His co-workers tried to slow him down by piling rejects by his side, but it did not take him long to 'learn the ropes,'" the speaker said.

"After a year of courtship, he and his childhood sweetheart, Bertha Greenberg, were married June 13, 1908, in St. Louis. They lived in St. Louis several years.

"On their fifth anniversary, June 13, 1913, he bought a shoe repair shop from his wife's uncle. This shop was in Madison, in the area now known as the Alpine Mini Mall.

"That was the beginning of his business career—a lifetime spanning periods of prosperity and depression. His hours were from 6 a.m. to 10 p.m. and his customers were workers from the American Car & Foundry Co., railroads, steel mills in Madison and the surrounding area.

"In 1914, Dad moved his wife and small son, Louis, to Madison. A second son named Harry was born.

"Dad was looking ahead and started to build his home in Madison on still another June 13, in 1916. Daughters Frances and Tillie still reside in the family home in Madison. June 13 remains a very special day to our family," Tillie Nornberg added. "In 1920, Father bought a store building in Madison in the area where the Farm Fresh store is now located. It was the beginning of a fine men's clothing and family shoe store. In 1923, the store was remodeled to become one of the most modern stores of that era. "At the height of the Great Depression of the 1930s, Dad lost everything—but by sheer initiative and courage started over again. "In 1944, the Nornberg business moved across the street into the stores known as the 'John Bottom Building.' Over the years, the business has become more diversified, offering fashionable clothing for women, men and children, plus shoes for the whole family. We specialize particularly in larger sizes but all sizes of quality merchandise are available.

"Although in the earlier years the sons also worked in the original store, Louis Nornberg has been the owner of the Red Crown Liquor Store at 312 Madison Ave. for the last 40 years. He is now semi-retired and his son, Jeffrey, and daughter-in-law, Rita Jean, are helping operate the liquor store. They are the parents of a daughter, Vanessa, and son, Aaron. Looking to the future, Frances and Tillie Nornberg said they hope to continue running Nornberg's Department Store at 307-311 Madison Ave., "offering quality merchandise and personal services to our loyal and valued friends and customers."

Branding gets MVP award at McKendree

Rick Branding, a 1983 graduate of Granite City North High School, recently received the most valuable player honor at the All Sports Banquet at McKendree College. Branding, a 6-4 junior, is a goaltender for the Bears. McKendree placed second in Illinois state soccer. The award was presented by soccer coach Bob Cortes. Prior to attending McKendree, Branding attended Florissant Valley Community College where he received an associate degree in radio and television. The Norsemen won two national titles while Branding was there. For the past two years, Branding has also played goal for the selected Illinois Prairie State soccer team.

Coleman stifles Warrior bats

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

CAHOKIA — On April 17, Sharon Coleman struck out 12 Granite City hitters in only five innings of action and allowed only one infield hit as the Comanches crushed the Warriors 14-0. With that background, you can understand why Granite City coach Jim Davis was actually quite pleased with Friday's game. The Comanches came out on top again, 6-0, to advance to the second round of the Cahokia Tournament, as Coleman again breezed to a victory.

Davis, ever the optimist, thought his team looked much better swinging against the hard-throwing righthander than they had the last time.

"We ended up with only (three) hits," he said. "But we swung the bats extremely well against a very tough pitcher. She's one of the best around."

Coleman fanned "only" eight this time as the Comanches, the No. 3 seed in the tournament, earned the right to play Mascoutah in a second round game. The Warriors moved into the consolation bracket of the 16-team tournament.

Tracy Gaudette led off the first inning with a hit, but Coleman fanned two to get out of the inning. The Comanches went to work in their half of the first inning. With sophomore Tammy LeVault on the mound for Granite City, Lisa Bement ripped a home run to deep left field for the only run Coleman needed.

Tracy File then followed with what appeared to be another homer, but she missed second base and was ruled out on an appeal by the Warriors. File was credited with a single.

In the second inning, Coleman got things going with a one-out single. Marcia Albrecht walked with two out and Lois Schilling reached on an infield hit. Shirley Brockmeier then came through with a two-run single between short and third as Albrecht, caught between third and home, avoided the tag by LeVault at the end of a rundown.

The Warriors escaped further trouble when Sandy Sternberg snared a hard line drive into left field by Lisa Melvin.

Cahokia, which stranded nine runners, again loaded the bases in the third on an error, a walk and a hit, but Albrecht fled to left.

LeVault, who had been plagued by wild streaks in her previous games this year, walked only two in the first 4½ innings, walked Coleman, Tracy Karvinen and Albrecht in succession with two outs in the fifth. Davis brought in his No. 1 pitcher, Amy Moss. Schilling hit a grounder that got by Gaudette at shortstop, allowing two runs to score for a 5-0 game.

Warrior kickers hand Kahoks first loss

By Gregg Ochso
and Jim Woodcock

COLLINSVILLE — Leave it to the Warriors, a team Collinsville can't seem to solve in any sport, to interrupt an undefeated season for the Lady Kahoks.

Any designs the Lady Kahoks had on breaking the Warrior jinx were postponed Monday when Granite City struck with two second-half goals en route to a 3-1 win at Van Fossan Memorial Park.

Granite City is now 7-1-1. Collinsville checks in at 6-1-1. On Thursday the Warriors rallied to nip Riverview Gardens 3-2. Colleen Ryan, Angie Moore and Sheila Noel got the Granite City goals.

The game also featured some outstanding goaltending by junior Mary DeRuntz. She stopped three Riverview penalty kicks, including one in the final four minutes of play that helped the Warriors keep their lead.

DeRuntz has been alternating time with Diane Takmajian, another junior. Takmajian played in the Collinsville game but DeRuntz started against Riverview.

Against Collinsville, Granite City spoiled the Kahoks dream of an undefeated season. Collinsville entered the game having beaten Hazelwood West 4-0 and playing Meherville to a 1-1 draw.

"Maybe our girls thought about that too much," said Collinsville coach Dave Jenkins. "Maybe after tying Meherville they thought they could go out and blow Granite City off the field."

It didn't happen. Granite City coach Mike Velloff thought the game was one of the Warriors' best this year. "We played excellent against Collinsville," he said.

The Kahoks took a 1-0 lead 16:57 into the contest on a goal by Diane Kassing, who received a nice feed from Trisha Mahat on a corner kick. It was Kassing's sixth goal of the year.

But Collinsville managed only two more shots the rest of the contest that Takmajian had to make saves on.

Granite City didn't overwhelm Collinsville, with shots on goal themselves — only five in the entire match — but three of them slipped past goalie Carol Picchioldi.

The first Granite City goal, from Maria Toeniskoetter, came just 29 seconds after Collinsville had went head 1-0. That ended the first half scoring.

In the second half, Granite City scored on probably its first good chance. On an indirect kick, the wind caught the ball and brought it to the far post, which was to Picchioldi's left.

The Collinsville goaltender swatted the airborne ball, but the rebound bounced back to a pack of swarming Granite City players. Noel was credited with the goal at 66:44.

After Kim Thompson nearly tied the game for Collinsville about eight minutes later with a brief breakthrough, Moore sealed the win for the Warriors with a goal at 76:08 from well outside the goalmouth.

The direction of Moore's shot was also influenced by the wind, and the bouncing ball seemed to fool the Kahok goalie.

"You need to play an excellent match to beat Collinsville," Velloff said. "The goal that put you up by two seems to take something out of the other team, but I didn't see that with Collinsville. They kept coming."

Granite City was to play at Pattonville (St. Louis) on Saturday. On Monday, May 12 Collinsville comes to Granite City for a 4 p.m. re-match.

School officials have also added two matches to the schedule. The Warriors will travel to Eastview, Ind., on May 17 to play Harrison and Memorial High Schools. Memorial High is an Indiana powerhouse having posted an 8-0 record at one stretch in its program.

NOTES: This is the first year that the Illinois High School Association has put girls soccer officially under its jurisdiction, meaning a state tournament could be sometime down the road. "Right now you play for experience and for a good season record for your seniors," Velloff said.
